

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES ARMY TRAINING AND DOCTRINE COMMAND
102 MCNAIR DRIVE
FORT MONROE, VIRGINIA 23651-1047

TRADOC PROGRAM INTEGRATION OFFICER

By my authority as TRADOC Commanding General, I hereby appoint

COLONEL JAMES C. MARKLEY

As the TRADOC Program Integration Officer (TPIO) for

THE ARMY DISTRIBUTED LEARNING PROGRAM and

THE ARMY TRAINING INFORMATION SYSTEM

The TPIO, reporting to the TRADOC Commanding General, will perform as the Army's centralized manager and integrator for The Army Distributed Learning Program (TADLP) and the Army Training Information System (ATIS). The TPIO is responsible for the seamless implementation of the TADLP and the ATIS within all Army schools and training environments while ensuring a continuity of training efforts.

The TPIO provides oversight, integration, and management direction in all matters relating to TADLP and the ATIS. Primary focus includes, but is not limited to, the integration and management of courseware, hardware, infrastructure, and resources; the integration, harmonization, and management of all training development and training management automation systems; and implementation of task-based training strategy. Direct coordination with Headquarters, Department of the Army, Army Commands, staff support/field operating agencies, interservice and intraservice agencies/commands, and others as required, is authorized. The TPIO provides issue resolution and makes recommendations to TRADOC Commanding General on all matters pertaining to TADLP and the ATIS.

The TPIO, by means of this charter, is hereby delegated the full-line authority of the TRADOC Commanding General for the centralized management and integration of TADLP and the ATIS.

This appointment will remain in effect as long as the TPIO is assigned unless his responsibilities are modified or his office is terminated by direction of the TRADOC Commanding General.

JUL 31 2006

WILLIAM S. WALLACE
General, U.S. Army
Commanding